Instructions:

For most of the columns on the spreadsheet, you can find the information you need at America's Career InfoNet: https://www.careerinfonet.org/select_occupation.asp?next=occ_rep

However, there are a couple exceptions.

You will probably need to use the Outlook Occupational Handbook to find the "job prospects" at https://www.bls.gov/ooh/.

You will need to visit the "Florida Wages" site to find out what the "Median Hourly Tampa Bay Area (TBA) Income is: http://www.floridawages.com/eds.php. When you reach that site, change "area type" to "Metropolitan statistical area." Then select "Tampa-St. Petersburg-Clearwater." For "industry," just select "all industries." Then select the SOC/O*Net code for the occupation you are searching for under "occupation."
